

A top-down view of various spa ingredients on a light-colored wooden surface. In the upper left, there are two small wooden bowls: one containing pink Himalayan salt crystals and the other containing white sea salt. Several loose salt crystals are scattered around them. To the right of the bowls is a stack of white folded towels. Further right, a bunch of dried lavender flowers with small purple blossoms hangs down. In the upper right corner, there is a glass jar with white sticks (possibly cotton swabs or sticks) inside. Below the lavender, there is a small dark brown jar with a cork stopper and a white rectangular bar of soap.
