

A top-down photograph of various spa ingredients on a light-colored wooden surface. In the upper left, there are two small wooden bowls: one containing pink Himalayan salt crystals and the other containing white bath salts. Scattered around these are more salt crystals. To the right of the bowls is a stack of white folded towels. Further right is a bundle of dried lavender flowers with small purple blossoms. In the bottom right corner, there is a small dark glass jar with a cork lid, a clear glass bottle with white sticks inside, and a white rectangular object, possibly a soap bar or a piece of parchment paper.
